"Why don't you run a newspaper like that?" said a merchant to a country publisher, throwing down a blank sheet city daily.—"Why don't you run a store like that?" said the publisher of the country sheet as he turned the paper over and pointed to a full page advertisement that brought the city publisher $250 each issue. Just then the country publisher presented his monthly bill of $5, and the merchant began talking of economizing by cutting down his advertisement and stopping his paper. He did both and the Sheriff is now doing his advertising for him.

How Laborers doctored his gripe: To prevent any fever, I at once administered to myself thirty grains of quinine—that settled the fever. To meet the cough I took unlimited squill pills—that settled the cough. To meet the cold I went to bed, heaped on all my bed-blankets, and took nothing but slops—that settled the cold. In four days I was quite well.

"A grist mill in a village," says an exchange, "is a great benefit to it. Why? Because it becomes the objective point of many farmers who become accustomed to purchasing their supplies in the same town as a matter of convenience. Were the same town without a grist mill and a neighboring village possessed one, the former would lose an amount of business every time the farmer had occasion to visit the mill." Napoleon is blessed with two good mills.

Daring Robbery.

More people have been robbed in Henry county during the past three or four weeks—not exactly or directly of their money and their clothes but of that of which everybody has more or less, and which is of more vital importance to them than either, or for that matter, all things else, viz: Good health. By the common consent of the people this robber has been named "Grippe," and is now known throughout the entire world by this name. Many are the devices which have been improvised to keep this fellow out of your house, but the only successful locks which have yet been found are kept on sale at Saur & Balesky's Drug and Medicine Depot, and hundreds of people can be seen daily flocking into this house to procure them. Don't wait until he has broken into your house,—don't wait until the horse is stolen but buy the lock now and then you will be able to laugh at him when he is stalking through the country.

As has been announced elsewhere, the Adele Carlton company will open at the Opera House for one week, commencing next Monday evening. The troupe comes well recommended. The Kenosha, (Wis.) Telegraph-Courier says of them:

Miss Adele Carlton, who is undoubtedly the most versatile actress we have yet seen in Kenosha, opened an engagement at the Opera House last Thursday evening. Her initial appearance as Lady Audley, in "Lady Audley's Secret," and the fire, passion and virility displayed at once stamped her as an actress of pronounced merit. In "Fanchon on the Creek," a much lighter role, she astonished all who had previously witnessed her Lady Audley, by her piquant, girlish ways, which were so greatly in contrast with her performance of the night previous. Her versatility is certainly remarkable, and she is gifted with a wonderful voice. Her support includes W. J. Cogswell, Wm. E. Todd, Albert S. Caspar, Geo. W. Collins, Birdie Bartram, and Louise and Ethel Kehoe. These artists were more than satisfactory to all characters assumed by them. Mr. Cogswell and Mr. Todd deserving special mention. Birdie Bartram is also entitled to praise for her able rendition of difficult roles. This young lady is not yet fourteen years of age. Miss Carlton and her company remain here all this week and merit a full house every night.

Death of James E. Scofield.

After a long illness James E. Scofield died at his home in Florida last Sabbath morning. Mr. S. had been confined to the house for a long time, suffering from complicated diseases, and death no doubt was a welcome visitor. He was one of the oldest settlers of the county, having removed here in the year 1833, when this country was simply less than a vast wilderness. He of all others probably knew more of the early history of Henry county than any one now living, and in his death has passed to the other shore a worthy and respected citizen, an indulgent parent and a kind husband. Mr. Scofield was one of the oldest Odd Fellows in the county, having been one of the charter members of Florida Lodge, which lodge was removed to Napoleon years ago. His funeral took place on Tuesday, under the direction of the Odd Fellows order. It was largely attended, as the deceased had a wide acquaintance, and was recognized as one of the most prominent characters of his neighborhood. At the time of his death he was aged 68 years, 8 months and 6 days.

The following biographical sketch of the deceased is taken from the history of Henry county:

"In the latter part of the year 1833, a number of pioneers and their families succeeded the Maumee River in rudely constructed boats. Among these was the family of Jared Scofield, a former resident of Delaware county, N. Y., who settled on lands in that part of Henry county that was known as Flat Rock township. Here he had a tract of forest land, ninety acres in extent, that required attention of himself and sons for some months before it was fit for tillage.

After a residence at this place of only three years Jared Scofield died. His first wife died two years before this, but he had remarried. In the family were nine children; of whom James Edwin Scofield, the subject of this sketch, was the third. He was born near Onondaga, Delaware county, N. Y., on the 13th of May, 1821, therefore at the time of his father's settlement in this county, he was but twelve years old. He lived at home until his father died, after which a guardian was appointed for him, and he was put to work on a farm, at which he continued faithfully until about nineteen years of age, when he went to Lancaster, Fairfield county, and took up his residence with an uncle, where he remained one summer attending school. He then returned to this county and resumed general work on the farm and the canal, which was then in course of construction, and so continued until the fall of 1846 when he was elected surveyor of Henry county. In this office he served two terms of three years each. During these years Mr. Scofield, by his earnings, started a general merchandise business at Florida, in Flat Rock township.

Mr. Scofield, on the 16th day of September, 1849, took to himself a wife in the person of Catherine Elizabeth Loesch, daughter of George A. Loesch of Flat Rock township. Of this marriage seven children have been born, six of whom are still living. In 1850 Mr. Scofield was appointed postmaster at Florida, and continued in office until 1855, at which time he was officially decanted for George A. Loesch of Flat Rock township, who was supporting Mr. Buchanan as presidential candidate; he was, however, reappointed in 1861 and held the position until 1864, when he resigned and moved to Okolona, where he again entered in trade, and when a postoffice station was established at that place, in 1865, Mr. Scofield was made postmaster, and so held until 1869, at which time he ceased the mercantile business; resigned the office and returned to his farm; he, however, continued to hold his commission as postmaster until 1872, as his resignation was not accepted prior to that time. From that to the present time Mr. Scofield has been numbered among the thrifty, persevering and successful farmers of Flat Rock. In the affairs of the township and county he has always taken an active interest, and has frequently been chosen by his townsmen to fill some of the important offices in their gift; in 1846 he was elected county surveyor, as the nominee of the Democracy, and affiliated with that party until 1858, when he supported John C. Fremont, but since that campaign he has been an active, earnest Republican.

Since about 1852 Mr. Scofield has held some office within the township of Flat Rock, and rarely has been defeated, although at no time in all the years has there been a Republican majority therein; first he was elected township clerk and justice of the peace, and held the last named office for three terms; he has been township treasurer one term; assessor for two or three terms; road supervisor, school director, and at the present time is school rector, township trustee and justice of the peace. These several and long-continued political holdings in a Democratic township attest the honesty, integrity and faithfulness in the discharge of duty, of James E. Scofield, and place him in the enviable position of possessing the confidence of his fellowmen.
